DECISION.—There are too many men who lack the necessary amount of stamina to make them good Union men or base traitors They stand as lookers on in the great struggle, ready to cry "good Lord" or "good devil," as the position of affairs may in their estimation to warrant They are innate toadies, without back bone enough to stand up and be men among men. They want to enjoy all the blessings which a well-ordered Government can bestow upon them,—in fact, their acquisitiveness is generally so large that they want a leetle more than what is right—but they lack the moral courage to express their opinions counter to their neighbors', lest they lose a customer, in defence of the Government under which they enjoy all their blessings, and to a support of which they were sealed by their country's God when given a birthplace. This want of decisive opinion and principle in individuals is contemptible, but when a newspaper, claiming to be a public educator,—a moulder of public sentiment—depending upon society for its support and Government for its protection, halts between loyalty and treason, asks to be "let alone" when desired to define its position on the state of the country its craven nature so far partakes of crime that it is unworthy the respect or confidence either of the Government's friends or foes. There are—there can be, no neutral newspapers always, and the editor who is not emphatically for the Union and the suppression of the rebellion, is a dribelling sneaking traitor harmless save in the dark or under cover.

STEAM COMMUNICATION WITH SAN FRANCISCO.—The season of high water in our river has passed, and the old steamer Oregon, one of the deepest boats of equal tonnage on the Pacific waters, is now en route for this port. The motives actuating the California steamship companies in sending us such tubs, especially during the months when there is the least water in our river to accommodate them, are beyond comprehension, unless there is a determined effort to keep the commerce of Oregon back for the benefit of her elder sister. This game has been played until our people are beginning to wake up, and we hope the time will soon come when we shall cease to pay tribute to California capital, by employing a portion of our own in such manner as will be to advantage, enterprise, and benefit the State. We are abundantly able—and the disposition should speedily manifest itself—to own a line of light draught, broad beamed and staunch steamers adapted to our commerce to be taxed and fitted here, and make San Francisco the port of visitation until this their home, instead of giving our hundreds of thousands of dollars annually for freight and passage in old, worn out and unseaworthy craft, with nothing which could recommend them to patronage if suitable vessels were engaged in opposition

SEEING THE COUNTRY.—C. R Street, editor of the Marysville Express, left the Dalles on Thursday for a trip through the mining region. The Express subscription list may receive accessions from among the arriving immigration, a good portion of which is represented as composed of disbanded bushwhackers and Missouri guerillas.

General Grant set type sixteen years ago in a printing office in Ohio; General Wadsworth, who was killed in one of the recent battles in Virginia, was a printer, the rebel General Zollicoffer was a printer, in fact the "art preservative" can boast of thousands of distinguished participants in this rebellion.

A quartermaster of the pirate Alabama, who deserted at Singapore, with twenty one others, and took the oath of allegiance, shipped on board the whaling bark Atlantic, and arrived at New Bedford a short time since

THE MAILS.—The Washington correspondent of the Bulletin, writing under date of June 22d, says

The Postmaster General has relet to the California Stage Company the daily mail contract between Lincoln California, and Portland, Oregon, a distance of 640 miles

The contract with Ben Holliday for carrying the mail between Salt Lake City and Walla Walla, has been extended so as to make the Dalles the western terminus of the route

FROM CANYON CITY.—By the arrival of the Canyon City Stage, at a late hour last night the 26th we have intelligence of the arrival of Capt Olney's command at Aldrich Flat He had received orders to report to Capt Caldwell, at Camp Watson He says that the Indians are quite plenty and on the night of the 26 a tried to stampede the company horses The trip was made through by the stage in three days from Canyon City to this place.—Mountaineer

General Rosseau's Cavalry Expedition Successful

LOUISVILLE, July 20.—A telegram from Chattanooga says that Gen Richards was killed before Atlanta to day

Another correspondent says that he was shot fatally through the lungs

WASHINGTON, July 23.—Richmond papers of the 21st have the following

The shelling of Petersburg for two days was merely nominal Half a shells were thrown into the city, which did little or no injury

The Examiner says Official dispatches announce that a large force of Yankees crossed the Shenandoah at Snickers on the 18th, and were attacked during the afternoon and driven across the river in great confusion Our loss is between 200 and 300, enemy's much greater

The Atlanta Confederacy says there is but a small quantity of commissary stores remaining there, as nearly all have been removed to a more secure position in the rear

The impression prevails that the city is to be defended and not given up unless our army is defeated in a great battle which will be fought immediately in front

The Richmond Whig is severe upon the authorities for superseding Johnston by Hood

ST LOUIS July 23.—Much surprise was created here a short time since by the arrest of several prominent secessionists in the city whose offence was unknown It has lately come to light, however, that they were connected with a conspiracy which extended throughout the entire Mississippi valley, having for its object the raising of rebellion in the North west The Provost Marshal of this department has been gathering evidence in the matter, which he has placed on possession of the authorities at Washington It implicates many public men and shows the organization to be formidable and dangerous It is believed that the recent guerilla movement in this State had some connection with this scheme, particularly as Thornton, in a speech delivered at Platte City, said that the Knights of the Golden Circle were organizing, and were armed to rise throughout the free States than Vallandingham was with them that the (Thornton) had troops in every county in this State that 1500 men had been raised in Illinois, and that they will soon join him.

During the investigation, the Provost Marshal discovered papers declaring the intended renewal of boat burning on the western waters It is probable that the whole matter will be ventilated in a few days

FORT LEAVENWORTH, July 24.—Thornton is now reported to be at Kingston, Caldwell county, with a force of 1500 men Gen Fisk is pursuing him with militia, and Col. Lord, with a portion of the 2d Colorado, is also moving against him with militia

Gen McKean thinks the rebels design throwing their force into Kansas

There is but little doubt that small parties of cop, rebels from Iowa and Illinois have been passing into northern Missouri within the last week to join Thornton

CINCINNATI, July 24.—The Gazette's correspondent, under date of Atlanta, July 22d, gives the following

Sherman commenced crossing the Chattahoochee on the morning of the 17th His whole line advanced. Hooker taking position on the extreme right and centre, Howard on right and centre, Palmer on extreme right

On the morning of the 19th, the advance reached Beach Tree creek, four miles from Atlanta After considerable skirmishing the enemy were dislodged and a portion of Hooker's corps crossed our left, swinging around to the Atlanta and Augusta railroad, and on the evening of the 19th, tearing up several miles of track

On the morning of the 20th, Howard, Hooker and Palmer crossed with the balance of their corps, forming a line along the south bank of a creek. At 3 o'clock P M, the rebels made a desperate and sudden assault on Howard in great force The attack soon extended to Hooker, the rebels advancing three deep Portions of our line wavered at first before the terrible onslaught, but quickly rallied and stood firm On that portion of the line was massed the flower of the rebel army, for besides fighting for the first time on open fields Before dark the rebels were utterly defeated, having failed to break our lines They retreated in disorder leaving most of their dead and wounded on the field Our loss will reach 2000, principally Hookers. The rebels killed, wounded and missing exceed 6000, including three brigades On the left, we were entirely successful McPherson drove the rebels several miles Blair's corps advanced one and a half miles south of the Augusta road.

On the morning of the 21st, the enemy were driven with small loss to their works immediately around Atlanta

On the 22d, they had withdrawn entirely from Hooker's and Palmer's front At 2 P M, portions of our army entered the city We may have some fighting for the full possession of the city, but the campaign is considered closed

A report, believed to be true announces the occupation of Montgomery by Rousseau

Another dispatch says that Rousseau was at Loachapilla, 140 miles south of Decatur He had a short fight with a small body of the enemy, dispersing them

LOUISVILLE, July 24.—The Evansville Journal says that Henderson, Ky., was attacked on Thursday by guerrillas and fighting was going on Gunboats have been sent to the assistance of the garrison This city is much excited by the general impressment of horses The city is barricaded at all avenues leading out of it

We have reports—not authenticated—of a conflict with guerrillas at Hopkinsville Our loss was 20 killed, wounded and missing A reported rebel force of 500 from Carrol county crossed crossing to Vevay, Indiana

PHILADELPHIA, July 26.—The Bulletin's special Washington dispatch says Gen Crook met the enemy on the 22d at Winchester and was repulsed and driven back to Williamsport by way of Martinsburg Gen Crook commanded the militia

A dispatch from Chambersburg says there are no signs of rebels advancing further than Martinsburg

BALTIMORE, July 26.—The American has the following The city last night was full of exciting rumors in regard to rebel movements in Shenandoah Valley, together with vague accounts of disasters to the force under Averill. The facts are ascertained to be that Averill, after a successful encounter with Early's force pursued them to the mountains beyond Winchester, where Early made a stand and after heavy fighting on Saturday and Sunday Averill was compelled to fall back to Harper's Ferry, causing the evacuation of Martinsburg The rebels pursued and on the afternoon of the 25th occupied Martinsburg, where they cut the telegraph wire and commenced the destruction of the track of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Our forces were concentrating at Harper's Ferry

It is rumored the rebels were in large force under Early and Breckinridge The object of rebels, doubtless is to give time for their trains of plunder to get away and secure a portion of the crops in Shenandoah Valley. Probably they may again make a raid into Maryland for more plunder

We have nothing authentic as to the extent of disaster to our forces by Winchester and no confirmation of death of Averill's Keyes and Mullin

We learn that orders were sent for the removal of army medical stores from Harper's Ferry last night Gen Wallace had commenced the loyal measure of stillness

It is reported that heavy artillery firing between Harpers Ferry and Winchester and Hancock was repulsed several pieces of artillery and two batteries were captured by the rebels It is impossible to ascertain the truth of the report, as the telegraph office in that region is closed

Gen Schenck's cavalry are now in the force of Hunter

WASHINGTON, July 24.—A dispatch from the Army of the 2d says A body of particular interest has occurred during the past two days Skirmishing along, Burnside's front was quite lively on the afternoon of the 22d before mentioned. It becomes to be the only part of the line which firing almost unceasing as there is nearly five miles extent over which we might with out the firing of musketry or artillery

Gen J C Caldwell is to be assigned to the command of the 15th corps and Gen David Birney appointed to the command of the 10th Corps

A correspondent at Deep Bottom, on James river, says that the enemy were discovered on a planting a battery so as to ring an enfilading fire on that point Early on the 19th Monday which destroyed it and held the position

BALTIMORE July 27.—There is nothing definite regarding the movements of the rebels in the Shenandoah valley As far as can be learned it is not known whether any body of regular force will fall back to Gordonsville and thence to Staunton carrying the entire force with them

NEW YORK, July 27.—Several say that Rebels got number of Cavalry into Martinsburg The rumor is that Early marched through the Gap on Sunday morning into Darkesville, the enemy retreated from Averill Cruda Imboden Gen Hunter's whole force compelled to retreat

Averill's loss is heavy The rebel force greatly outnumbered ours

The Commercial dispatch says The Government expecting the return of the rebel raiders will make preparations to prevent a serious incursion into Maryland and Pennsylvania

It is believed the plunder lately obtained has been deposited by the rebels in Shenandoah Valley to support the formidable force which is to act in the Northwest Others think the demonstration is only to detain the 6th corps from Grant

The Tribune's special at Harper's Ferry the 26th says The statement that Hunter's force met with disaster and that Kelly and Averill were killed is untrue Crook, who was in command of Wallace after returned in good order, before superior numbers after a severe fight by night with all the artillery of the field A portion of the cavalry were stampeded but have since been reorganized Every precaution has been taken to give the rebels a warm reception if they cross the Potomac In ornation of a trust worthy source places the number of the invaders at 22 000

The Tribune's Washington special says Col Mulligan was wounded and is a prisoner

Reports from the valley create no excitement here Other specials says, that Washington and Baltimore are not considered in any danger from the present movement, unless the rebels are much stronger than there is reason to suspect The invasion will be one of short career

Gen Wright is assigned to the command of the 6th and 18th Corps Gen Ricketts commands the sixteenth

The Herald's Baltimore special of the 26th at 9 o'clock P M says All accounts agree that Crook succeeded in driving the enemy advance which was pushing North, back to Bunker Hill two miles south of Martinsburg Rumors are now current that a fight occurred near Harper's Ferry, in which Hunter was badly worsted. They are very indefinite, however.

The Times' special says As far as known the rebels halted at Martinsburg No force has been seen on the Potomac. The Baltimore and Ohio Rail Road is unharmed

The State had appointed before Martinsburg at 3 30, P M, yesterday in two columns of about 2 000 under Gens Earley and Breckinridge, who were joined by Morgan's cavalry and were all under the command of Gen Hill.

NEW YORK, July 25.—The Tribune's Washington special dated 24th, 11 P M, says The Government has received dispatches from Sherman announcing that on the 22d the rebels under Hood, massed a heavy force against McPherson a grand division composed of Logan's, Blair's and Cook's corps, and made a desperate attack, gaining a temporary advantage The enemy, after terrific fighting, in which a number of charges were made and repulsed with great slaughter, was finally driven into his fortifications During the battle Gen McPherson became separated from his staff and was killed by a sharp shooter Logan assumed command of the division

A later dispatch says our forces have obtained possession of the elevated ground north-east of Atlanta. Massive guns had been mounted which commanded the place. The rebels were burning stores, etc., preparatory to a retrograde movement Everybody feels confident that Atlanta by this time has fallen into our hands

NEW YORK, July 26.—The Herald's Nashville special says All the railroads leading from Atlanta except the Macon road, are destroyed There appears to be no disposition on our part to hasten the occupation of the city - Sherman is not likely to force an engagement in which the enemy would have very great advantage. Reliable information has been received that everything is going right.

The Tribune's special says that a dispatch received from Atlanta by Government this evening estimates our loss in Friday's battle at about 8000, the rebel loss at 6000 to 8000. Rebels were buried in front of the left wing The fighting is described as having been terrific, the rebels making repeated charges with bayonets, but were each time repulsed with great slaughter and were finally driven into their fortifications The rebels destroyed all their immense depots of provisions at Atlanta It was believed that they were retreating by the Macon road, as our cavalry had probably intercepted their retreat long enough to enable our infantry to come up

A dispatch just received announces the successful result of Gen Rousseau's cavalry expedition on the flank of Hood's army at Atlanta Rousseau's force left Decatur, Alabama and after crossing Tallapoosa, the column proceeded down across Alabama to the Montgomery and Atlanta railroad bridges. Arriving at Montgomery, the column disbanded, and destroyed the railroad at different points for twenty miles Another column under Gen Garrard which left Decatur some time before, destroyed the railroad between that place and Covington The large railroad bridges across Conasauga, Coosawhatchee and Yellow rivers were burned Both columns arrived safe at Marietta.

The Herald's Washington special says that the reports from Atlanta are regarded as only a step to very disastrous much more substantial success than the mere occupation of that city would have been According to their report to the rebel army has lost 12 000 in since Hood assumed command The wants of Sherman's loss will not exceed 8 500 It is believed that Hood's army has become thoroughly demoralized

SALEM ITEMS.—The Statesman of the 28th says that considerable sickness prevails in Salem, especially among children, arising from decomposition of vegetable matter, and the existance of a pool of filth, and calls upon the authorities to abate the nuisance, when the usual health will be restored We chip the following.

Col Barry, now engaged on the railroad survey was in command of an Illinois regiment in the campaign which ended in the capture of Vicksburg

COULDN'T SEE IT.—We heard of an individual the other day who went up to Santiam to mouch, and on returning pronounced the thing a humbug By making inquiries, however, we learned that said individual only went as far as Quartzville, and there found to his disgust that a steep hill of considerable height had to be climbed before he could be permitted to gaze upon that famous beast of the mountains, the "White Bull." In attempting to make the ascent his foot slipped, he fell, rolled over made several "dips" and "strikes," pealed his nose severely, and after regaining the bottom of the hill and having his wounds dressed, made his way back to the land of Web-foot, fully convinced that there was no such thing as gold or silver in the Cascade Range

GENERAL ROSECRANS.—The conservative politicians of Missouri are now trying their hand at the game practised by the radicals on General Schofield for so many months in vain The conservatives want Rosecrans removed from that Department. The conservatives want a commander who will permit rebels to vote at the November election, and therefore the effort to remove Rosecrans who will not wink at such proceedings.—Appeal

The Mountaineer says

Mr Dan Butler, a well known citizen of Wasco county, arrived from the Kootenai country a few days since bringing with him the most indubitable evidence of the existence of gold in that quarter He had a purse well filled with Kootenai dust, estimated to be worth $18 per ounce, all of which was the result of less than two months in the mines Mr B informs us that there is about five hundred persons in the mines and that this number is constantly gaining accessions from the Stuikine Water and other mining districts New discoveries were constantly being made

POSTPONEMENT OF THE DEMOCRATIC NATIONAL CONVENTION.—The Columbus Crisis is frank and gives the reason why the Copperheads postponed their National Convention It says:

People's minds are so set upon the war that no impression can be made upon them unless they see the result of the campaign This will be fully settled by the beginning of Autumn when we shall be able to sum up the net gain of the vast expenditure of life and treasure By that time it is probable we shall be able to agree upon some candidate who will unite the Democratic vote At present on account of a result seems impossible

THE total indebtedness of the South to Northern merchants is estimated at $200 000 000, of which New York holds $150 000 000, Philadelphia $24 000 000 Baltimore, $10 000 000, and Boston, $7 000 000.

How a Cotton Speculator got Taken Down.—A good story is going the rounds in regard to a citizen of New Orleans one of those neutral individuals who are on the fence ready to jump on either side policy dictates to be for their interest He left New Orleans about two months since, bound for the Confederate lines, with the intention of investing what money he had in cotton The friend who related the incident to me said that just before starting he met him in the street, and, after exchanging the usual commonplace remarks, inquired

"What are you up to now, Brown?"

"Oh, I've just made a good thing been into the Confederacy and brought out thirty bales of cotton Bound up again to-morrow and if nothing happens I'll bring back four times that quantity"

"Be careful, Brown, or you'll get gobbled up They'll have you in the rebel army"

"Oh, no fear of that They all know me to be a good Confederate. Besides I've got British papers."

A month later the two friends met Brown looking decidedly downcast and seedy Wallace accosted him with

"Well Brown, how about that cotton?"

"Don't talk to me about cotton Lost everything"

"How's that?"

"Well, you see, I got up to Bayou Sara the same night the rebels made their raid into the place I had plenty of time to escape, same as good many others did but I thought I was all right and so, with a friend, sat down to a game of poker, just to show that we didn't feel at all alarmed Presently in came some rebs and began to search us On my partner they found a lot of Confederate money, and they wanted to know what right he had in the Federal lines with Confed money? So they just took it Of course I was convinced now that I was all right—my money was all greenbacks 'What are you doing in the Confederacy with Federal money?' they asked So they took mine too"

"That was rough Is that all they done to you?"

"All! No, sir They stripped me of everything, and one big fellow gave me such a kick as to take me off my feet, with the remark that if they ever caught me in the Confederacy again with so little they'd hang me"

An Incident of the War.—An interesting anecdote, though of doubtful authenticity, is related of Franklin, who, it is alleged, in order to test the parental instinct existing between mother and child, introduced himself as a belated traveler to his mother's house after an absence of many years Her house being filled with more illustrious guests than the unknown stranger, she refused him shelter and would have turned him from her door Hence he concluded that this so-called parental instinct was a pleasant delusive belief, not susceptible of proof The opposite of this lately occurred in Washington In one of the fierce engagements with the rebels near Mechanicsville, in May last, a young lieutenant of a Rhode Island battery had his left leg shattered by a shell that, on passing Washington after one of those horrible battles, and a journey of a week's duration, he was obliged to undergo amputation of the limb He telegraphed home that dozens of miles away that he was going well and would be with them soon, and left Washington for the North Arriving at Providence, he hired a carriage and proceeded alone to his father's residence, which he entered unannounced, and, finding his mother, one of those rare natures of the army has turned up in mainframe She received the city at once and the nurses would have kept her from him until morning One cheek by his side, her hand on the forehead, listening pulsations which forbade any results But what woman's heart could resist the pleadings of a mother then? In the darkness she was finally allowed to glide in and take the place at his side She touched the pulse as the nurse had done, not a word had been spoken, but the sleeping boy opened his eyes and said that feels like my mother's hand Who is this beside me? It is my mother, turn up the gas and let me see mother!" The two forms met in one long joyful sobbing embrace and the fondness put up in each heart ed and panted, and wept forth its gratitude The gallant fellow, just twenty years old, had undergone the operation after a year's service, underwent operation after operation and at last, when death drew nigh, was told by tearful friends that it only remained to make him comfortable, and "shook hands with him in the face too many times to count him," and died as gallantly as he had fought the Cumberland —Washington Cor. N. Y. Eve Post, June 21st

The Dead Man and the Vulture.—When near Bayou Sara the passengers, who were sitting on the boiler deck talking, smoking and enjoying the cool river breeze, were startled by the appearance of a dead body, perfectly naked, floating on its back with arms and legs extended, and a hideous turkey buzzard perched upon its breast making a horrid meal of the half decomposed flesh The body floated quite near, and we had a good view of it As before stated, the body was perfectly naked, and a rope was around its neck The eyes had been picked out and the flesh eaten off the face, the fleshless bones of which grinned horribly Into a large hole in the breast the vulture occasionally buried his head withdrawing it covered with blood and matter A gentleman on the boat fired at it with his revolver, and it rose lazily from the corpse and flew away, holding a mass of dark, liver like substance in its beak There was a great deal of speculation among those who witnessed the horrible sight as to who and what the unfortunate man was, denied a sepulcher, fed the unclean birds with his flesh Some victim of guerrilla cruelty, probably, perhaps a cotton buyer or a native Unionist —Mississippi River Correspondence

"First class in oriental philosophy stand up Thibbetts, what is life?"

"Life consists of money, a horse, and a fashionable wife"

"What is poverty?"

"The reward of merit received by genius from a discriminating public"

"What is religion?"

"Doing unto others as you please, without allowing a return of the compliment"

"What is fame?"

"A six line puff in a newspaper"

General Ed Johnston was captured by Frank Totman, of the Maine Seventeenth He took the rebel by the collar and told him he was his prisoner, when Johnston replied that he should not surrender to any one but the commander of the forces He accepted, replied "Don't know anything about that, you can't get away from me!"—and he took him to Gen Hancock

Wild Pork.—Some prospectors at Virginia, Nev., having lately returned from a trip through the Goose Creek range of mountains report having seen in a large valley hundreds and thousands of small animals resembling guinea pigs They insist that the quadrupeds are not prairie dogs but members of the porcine persuasion

A little boy running got run over by a cart and fell on the pavement Never mind my little fellow said the driver, I won't feel the pain to-morrow Then" answered the little boy I won't cry to-morrow

Financial and Commercial

Portland Friday July 1 1864

We have this week to report no material change in Prices Current from the previous week Produce is still coming forward in small quantities from the interior and all descriptions of staple articles are in fair demand at full prices from the first hands Oregon Wool was in active demand and sales were made at from 50 to 60 cts

The San Francisco Bulletin of the 18th ult says "Wheat market is being exceedingly thin and prices are drooping until 190 is the highest figure obtained for choice shipping Oregon Wool was in active demand and sales were made at from 50 to 60 cts

Stocks of all kinds are very light and our merchants are doing only the supply of the most limited description of trade

We observe by the arrivals at the port of our merchants buying all the goods in the Atlantic States and Europe that they intend to sell at extremely low figures for cash and short credits Those who have stocks on hand will find it to their interest to establish quite a low rate of profits and thus secure to our ship ping trade a large share

The trade for all the interior has been very active for a few days past We note sales of over 100 persons at $40 per ton and upwards per ton for flour, and $45 per ton for potatoes

Our butter agent, Hyatt King, an old reputable merchant about to sail on the 4th month will receive and consign all shipments of eggs Rolls Boxes &c collected Drafts drawn with the McNally Island wheel Land and Transport will sail another trip from this port the first of July A Clark of Puget Island which is one of the principal articles of export from this port is now in the city with a large quantity of potatoes which he will dispose of at reasonable rates

The reports of the precious metals have rather an improved character which is evidence that our mines are still yielding remunerative wages to our miners The Auburn which sailed on Monday last took away from this port a half million of dollars in gold dust

Mercantile trade in the mines of Idaho is quite unsettled from a diversity in the cost of goods but it is promptly regulating and no trespassing measures as that by full trains of the Montana Mission Agency to the State of Massachusetts

It is well known that the medicinal effect of Protoxide of Iron is lost by even a very brief exposure to air, and that to maintain a solution of Protoxide of Iron, without further oxidation has been deemed impossible

In the Peruvian Syrup this desirable object is attained by combination in a manner never before known, and this solution may replace all the Protoxide solutions and particulars of the Materia Medica

IODINE WATER.

IODINE WATER IS THE MOST IMPORTANT DISCOVERY of modern chemistry and it is impossible to over-estimate its influence as a remedial agent Iodine has been considered the most useful article in Materia Medica, and many of the most scientific and practical chemists and physicians have investigated its effects upon the human system It is to act upon the

HEART, LIVER, KIDNEYS, DIGESTIVE ORGANS AND GLANDULAR SYSTEM,

and to have great control over

SCROFULOUS AFFECTIONS.

Notwithstanding the zeal and ability which have been devoted to its investigation it remained almost as it was until Dr Henry Anderson a physician and chemist of New York after years of patient labor and experiment discovered a chemical process which enabled him to dissolve

PURE IODINE IN PURE WATER

without a solvent This considered impossible by the scientific world is attested by certificates of analysis from Dr J R Chilton of this city and Dr J Booth U S Mint Philadelphia The importance of this discovery was highly appreciated by the Faculty when it was published in the Medical Journals and its use recommended to practitioners (see 'American Medical Monthly' July 6 1864 page 10)

This valuable medicine is now available to the public for the cure of Scrofula in all its many forms Consumption Cancer Heart Liver and Kidney Diseases Rheumatism Neuralgia, Nervous Affections Dyspepsia Bronchitis etc

AS A TONIC

Its operation is evinced by strengthening the digestive organs and increased nutrition of the body is the result of the employment of Iodine The patient recovers health, strength and color; muscles relaxed and feeble become full, strong and florid
